More than 200 attend Goleta home-buying fair

Staff Report

More than 200 local employees took a step toward home ownership Sept. 19 at the Coastal Housing Partnership's home-buying fair in Goleta.

Held at the Deckers Rotunda, the after-work event drew potential first-time and move-up home buyers, as well as others who were interested in finding out more about the home-buying process. Attendees met with local lenders, real estate agents, residential developers, credit and financial-service firms and other housing-related professionals to get their questions answered in a no-pressure setting.

"We were excited to see so many local workers discover they can become home owners in the area," said Coastal Housing Partnership executive director Corby Gage. "Keeping our workers local is vital for the health of our economy and our community. We are here to help make the home-buying journey possible."

Coastal Housing Partnership will hold another home-buying fair from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 28, at the Ventura Beach Marriott. Reservations can be made at homebuyingfairs.org
